

ABSTRACT

The bachelor paper “Political persecution of soldiers since February 1948“ describes persecution of soldiers in the above mentioned era in connection with class-struggle, searching for the state enemy and building so called “Great Army”. The thesis describes main means of persecution, their executors and tools and also tries to find out whether the fates of individual soldiers were similar and how they fit in the typology of persecuted groups. The thesis also introduces stories of two soldiers who became victims of this political despotism.
